

Changing of the Guard

A father checks the empty bed, listening for the faint stirrings of his son, who left his dreams
tucked between the sheets and went to live with his mother.

No blame.

